Multidisciplinary research plays a crucial role in addressing complex challenges and paving the way for a sustainable future. Emerging paradigms in multidisciplinary research for sustainability focus on integrating knowledge and expertise from various disciplines to develop holistic solutions. By embracing the emerging paradigms such as Circular Economy, Renewable Energy Integration, Climate Changes, Biodiversity Conservation, and Social Innovation the multidisciplinary research can contribute significantly to create a sustainable and resilient future. Collaboration across diverse fields enables a more comprehensive understanding of complex issues and facilitates the development of effective and lasting solutions.

SHODH 2025, the 9th Annual Interdisciplinary Doctoral Conference by Shri Vaishnav Vidyapeeth Vishwavidyalaya, focuses on 'Integrating Interdisciplinary Research for Societal Well Being'. The conference aims to provide a platform for researchers to exchange experiences and findings across various disciplines, fostering insights for future societal benefit. The theme emphasizes on the importance of addressing potential issues in maximizing research benefits, reflecting a commitment to responsible and ethical practices. SHODH 2025 holds the potential to inspire collaborations and innovative solutions for a sustainable and equitable future.
